Contents

VOLUME 47

SPRING 2005

ORAL HISTORY REMEMBERED

Edited by Susan D. Penfield

Acknowledgments vii

Foreword BERNARD L. FONTANA ix

Forty Years On SUSAN D. PENFIELD 1

The Doris Duke American Indian Oral History Program: Gathering the "Raw Material of History" DIANA REPP 11

Oral Histories with the Acjachemem of San Juan Capistrano FRANK P. LOBO, SUSAN LOBO, AND KELINA N. T. LOBO 29

Continuing Maricopa Identities: Gila River Reservation, Arizona MARSHA C. S. KELLY 47

White Mountain Apache Reflections WILLIAM B. KESSEL 57

Architectural Design: Drawing on Nonverbal Traditions as Oral History GEORGE ESBER 71

Mohave Remembered SUSAN D. PENFIELD 81

Chemehuevi Phonology ROY C. MAJOR 107

"I Was the One to Make the Peace": Roberto Thomson and the Seri Indians SCOTT H. RYERSON 117

The Doris Duke Program in Scope and Sequence KATHRYN L. JASPER 153

Summer 2005

Mormon Forestdale — Andrea Smith 165

Arizona and Japanese American History: The World War II Colorado River Relocation Center — Thomas Fujita-Rony 209

Voices from Inside a Black Snake: Religious Monuments of Sonora's Highways — James S. Griffith 233

It was Doubles: Strategies of Sense Production in Rudolfo Anaya's "The Man Who Found a Pistol" — Mario Materassi 249

Style, Meaning, and the Individual Artist in Western Pueblo Polychrome Ceramics after Chaco — Richard B. Wright 259

Autumn 2005

Publishing the Southwest v

Anthropology at the University of Arizona, 1893–2005 — Raymond H. Thompson 327

Creating a Firm Foundation: The Early Years of the Arizona State Museum — David R. Wilcox 375

Re-Observation and the Recognition of Change: The Photographs of Matilda Coxe Stevenson (1879–1915) — Gwyneira Isaac 411

"Good Samaritans of the Desert": The Pima-Maricopa Villages as Described in California Emigrant Journals, 1846–1852
David H. DeJong 457

Ages of O'odham Architecture Donald Bahr 497

Chemehuevi Revisited Roy C. Major 523

Winter 2005

Sunstruck Bill Broyles
photographs by Michael P. Berman 535

Reclaiming the Southwest: A Traumatic Space in the Japanese American Internment Narrative
Fu-jen Chen and Su-lin Yu 551

Cosmogonic Myths, Ritual Groups, and Initiation: Toward a New Comparative Ethnology of the Gran Nayar and the Southwest of the U.S.
Johannes Neurath
Translated by Donald Bahr 571

Antonieta Rivas Mercado: Katherine Anne Porter's Horror and Inspiration Darlene Harbour Unrue 615

Archaeological Sociology in America's Southwest: A Review Essay Joseph G. Jorgensen 637